Your responsibilities

- Don't share account information
- Don't leave your username and password in the open
- If you feel that your account has been compromised, change your username and password immediately
- Don't "save" usernames or passwords, enter them at each login
- You are responsible for protecting your own equipment. Anti-virus software and personal firewalls are not required, but we encourage you to use them

Acceptable Use of Service Policy

July 2021

- You will be responsible for any misuse of our services from your account
- You're responsible for protecting your accounts and must take steps to ensure that others do not gain unauthorized access to your account or misuse our services

Administrative discretion

Our administrators, staff, and executives have sole and final discretion over all aspects of our network, service, this A USP, and any legal interpretations of it. We reserve the right to terminate any account or service without cause or prior notice.

Violations and monitoring

We don't intend to actively monitor the content of websites, e-mail, newsgroups or material created or accessible over our services, but we reserve the right to monitor such services or any services on or within our network.

Reporting violations and complaints

If you know of any violations or attempted violations, please email us at info@virginmobile.ae.

When reporting anything to us, please include:

- The internet protocol address used to commit the alleged violation
- The date, time and time zone of the violation
- Evidence of the violation, including, if applicable, full headers from emails, firewall logs, traffic dumps or information pertaining to the events in question. Please do not send this material as an attachment, include it in the body of the email text
- Don't send excerpts of a message; sending the entire message with full headers helps prevent misunderstandings based on incomplete information or information taken out of context.
